

MANY MENTIONED
FOR THE JUDGESHIPLINCOLN COUNTY SEEMS LIKE LY TO FURNISH GOVERNOR
THE APPOINTEE

Governor Willson will appoint the successor to the late Judge M. C. Saufley on the circuit bench until an election is held in the district in November, 1911. It is naturally expected that the governor will appoint a republican, which will be the first time that party has had this office in a great many years.

Lincoln county seems very likely to furnish the appointee for two of her best known republican lawyers are being groomed for the place by their friends Peter M. McRoberts and Judge George M. Davison. A number of the members of the local bar have endorsed Mr. McRoberts for the place while others are behind Mr. Davison and in addition he has behind him the solid republican organization of Lincoln county. He has been assistant United States attorney for a number of years with headquarters at Cosington, but Sawyer Smith of Barbourville, has recently been appointed to succeed him.

Louis L. Walker, of Lancaster is expected to have much strength before the governor, if Senator Bradley endorses him, but there is a strong report that Mr. Walker does not desire the appointment. State Auditor Frank P. James, of Mercer, is said to have endorsed former County Judge Ben F. Roach, of that county, who though once a democrat, is said to have affiliated with the republicans recently. R. T. Quisenberry, of Danville, is also suggested by the Advocate of that city.

Gov. Willson is at present out of Frankfort and Acting Governor Cox has said that he will leave the appointment up to the governor.

As to the democratic candidates for the nomination in the race which will come next year, it is too early to forecast. The general impression seems to be that the woods will be candidates, with Commonwealth's Attorney Charles A. Hardin, of Mercer, Judge George E. Stone, of Boyle, C. C. Bagby, and W. J. Price, of Boyle, W. I. Williams, James I. Hamilton, of Garrard, W. S. Burch and J. B. Faxon, of Lincoln, among those most "prominently mentioned" just now as probable candidates, or suitable timber for the ermine.

McKinney.

Everything is quiet in our town at present and everybody too busy to do anything but attend to business.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dudderar, of Georgetown, are visiting friends and relatives here for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Morris, of Wabash, Ind., former residents of this place are here on a visit.

Miss Alma Hubble who has been sick for several weeks is getting better and able to set up some.

The public school under the efficient teaching of Miss Lipp, of Hustonville, and Mrs. Stella Montgomery, is progressing nicely with an enrollment of eighty scholars and average attendance of seventy. What we need is a new schoolhouse and a better location, and there are prospects of getting one in the near future.

Mr. Frank Mobley reports that he found a nice umbrella on the road a few days ago and anyone proving ownership can have same by calling on him. Miss Nora Riffe has returned home after an extended visit through Tennessee. Mrs. J. W. Cocking and daughter Marjorie have returned from a very pleasant visit at Mayaville with friends and relatives. Miss Anna Mary True, of Mayaville returned with them.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Riffe entertained at their home Tuesday night in honor of their guests Miss Katherine Jones and Harold Galloway, of Nashville, Tenn. After several selections of music by the McKinney band refreshments were served in a charming manner by the hostess, then followed a very fine recitation by Mr. Galloway and the rest of the evening was spent in games. Those present were: Miss Margaret Sandidge, Miss Nora Riffe, Miss Nora Love, Mrs. Bessie Gray, of Texas, Miss Effie Drye, Mr. Cleo Thomas, L. E. True, Norman, Trus, Mack Mobley, George Lay, Arthur Brown, James Cannon Harry Wright Eugene Davidson, Harry Jacobs, and Master Creston Riffe.

Harry Jacobs the monument man, sold Mrs. Annie Engleman, of Stanford, a fine granite monument for her daughter Bessie Kay Engleman, to be erected in Buffalo Cemetery, and to F. M. Sims, of Elizir Springs, a family monument in Barre granite for Mrs. Sims, father and mother and brothers and sisters to be put up in the Estes cemetery.

Mr. Henry Coleman has a new Oakland automobile which is a very fine machine. Mr. E. J. Tanner has bought one of the same make which will be here this week. Mr. F. M. Ware has purchased a Buick machine which makes four in our little town and more to come in a few days.

Fine Farms

CHANGE HANDS RECENTLY AT FANCY FIGURES.

J. Lee Murphy has just prebared the fine 150-acre farm, known as the old Dave Frewitt place, from Mrs. Patterson Underwood. He paid $135 per acre. This farm lies in Boyle county, near Hedgeville, just over the Lincoln line and is said to be one of the best in this part of the State.

L. N. Whittaker of Garrard, sold his one hundred acre farm to G. W. Whittaker, a kinsman for $11,000. It is seven miles from Lancaster and good one.

Giants In Those Days

SOME REMINISCENCES OF THE LINCOLN COUNTY BAR

(W. P. Walton in Lexington Herald.) "There were giants in those days." It is hoped that the writer, who lived in Stanford some thirty years or more, will be excused for some personal reminiscences of the lawyers of the ancient capital of Lincoln county. Though small in size, the bar of that city embraced some of the greatest lawyers of the State, but the relentless flight of time has deprived it of many who in former years gave it the prestige of one of the finest bars in Kentucky. There were others before our day and memory, but we write on only of those whom we knew until they were gathered to their fathers.

There was Colonel Thomas P. Hill, a great lawyer and an orator whose fame was almost national. He was the mentor of the bar and many a young man who afterwards became noted in his profession, learned legal lore at his feet. He lived to be 80 years of age, maintaining his vigorous mind even if the body had grown weak and feeble.

Then there was Colonel William Gatewood Welch, a man of massive physique as well as of robust mental qualities. We have often thought that the two greatest minds we have ever come in close contact with were those of Colonel W. C. F. Breckinridge and Colonel Welch. The difference was that the former had a laudable ambition; the latter seemed to care nothing for the favors of the plaudits of men. The one added to the talents the Lord had given him; the other in a measure buried his. He was as gallant a soldier as ever drew a sword for the Sunny Southland and as brave a man as ever lived, but he lacked ambition and few knew the strength of his mind or his great mental attainments. Death claimed him also a few years ago and he sleeps in the little town of Crab Orchard where he was born and which he loved with unusual devotion.

Another great legal mind was that of him whose sudden death the Herald told yesterday. Judge M. C. Saufley was one of the deepest thinkers and the clearest of reasoners. Endowed with a judicial mind, he could grasp a point of law quicker than any man we ever knew, except Judge M. H. Owsley of a neighboring town, who seemed to decide by intuition. Neither was often reversed by the Court of Appeals and their decisions were models of judicial reasoning. He studied law after coming out of the Confederate army with nothing left but his tattered and torn suit of gray and an energy that was indomitable. He was a great lawyer and a just judge, and his place cannot be acceptably filled, no matter whom Gov. Willson may appoint.

Then there was the glorious old "Honest Dick Warren," as everybody called Judge Richard C. Warren, who was honored perhaps by more offices in the gift of the district and the county than any other citizen, a man of the most commanding figure, an orator whose voice could fill the largest building, and a democrat who has always answered his party's call. He, too, was taken in the prime of his usefulness and died much earlier in life than the others here mentioned.

Another of this old school of lawyers remains in the person of Judge J. W. Alcorn, the sole survivor, we believe, of those who for years made the Stanford bar famous. He was also a gallant Confederate soldier and has written his name high for bravery on the battlefield and on the legal annals of his native State. May he long survive, as a living reminder of the fact that "there were giants in those days."

The fact that these men were Confederate veterans, except Colonel Hill who was too old for service, and Judge Warren, perhaps too young, and came from the war as poor as Job's Turkey, as the saying is, shows the wonderful recuperation of those who are ambitious to succeed and is a wonderful object lesson to the rising generation which we pray God may never undergo the privations and hardships of those who suffered for the cause they loved and which was destined to be lost.

God bless the dear old fellows and give them that rest and peace that was denied them here.

"GET BUSY"

We "got busy" and talked the owners down to $120 per acre. It was one of the very best farms—if not the best of its size in Lincoln county. Splendid locality, fertile soil, high-class improvements, everything to be desired. 251.11 acres only one mile from Stanford, land lies well and is well watered. But a "dummy" real estate man ought to sell this farm "she speaks for herself." We want you farm buyers to look at this farm. We have other farms in Lincoln and Garrard counties. Write for catalogue. For further particulars apply to Hughes & Swinbroad, The real estate men. Lancaster, Ky.

WITH STARS AND BARS
ABOUT HIMMORTAL REMAINS OF JUDGE M.
C SAUFLEY ARE LAID TO FINAL REST.

With the stars and bars of the South land enfolded about him, a mass of flowers piled around his bier and surrounded by friends and loved ones, who came from far and near, all that was mortal of Judge M. C. Saufley was laid to final rest in the family lot in Buffalo Cemetery Sunday afternoon.

It is probable that no larger concourse of people ever assembled on any similar occasion in this part of Kentucky, than gathered Sunday to pay the last tribute of esteem to the memory of the departed jurist. Practically the entire bars from Boyle, Garrard and Mercer were present as well as Lincoln, and many from other sections of the State, and other State. The old confederate comrades of the deceased turned out in a body and acted as an escort of honor.

The family home on Danville ave., was unable to accommodate the throng which congregated there for the services by Elder Joseph Ballou, a long time friend of Judge Saufley, so that it swept over the spacious lawn where men stood with bowed heads while the brief service was said.

The procession to Buffalo cemetery was over a mile in length and not all could gather close enough to hear the final eulogy to the dead said at the grave by Dr. E. M. Green, of Danville, himself an ex-Confederate and close friend of the deceased.

The gallant old soldiers who assembled as honorary pall-bearers and escort of honor to the grave were W. J. Bohon, J. O. Dedman, John Milburn, Wm. Baughman, S. Hanson, I. N. Van Meter, W. I. Harman, Harvey Hay, Sam Moore, Ike Durham, James Givens, Sterling Grimes, W. Hignite Alex Doty, John Bias, Thomas Arnold, I. W. Royston, James Baughman, Rue Denton, R. R. Noel, James Guest Alex Fribble, Cap Peyton, T. D. English, George Carpenter, W. M. Doores, Col. Isaac Shelby, J. W. Alcorn, Doc Shumate, James Wilder, George Bright, Dr. Gunn.

The active pall-bearers were C. A. Hardin, of Harrodsburg, James P. Bailey, T. J. Hill, Jr., Kendrick S. Alcorn, P. M. McRoberts, of Stanford, W. I. Williams, of Lancaster, Charles H. Rhodes, of Danville.

ALLEGED LINCOLN
COUNTY HORSE THIEFPERMITTED TO ESCAPE JUSTICE
BY GOV. WILLSON—CAUGHT
IN WEST

Frank Gross, who stole a horse and runabout from H. R. Howard, of Lincoln county and sold them in Harrodsburg on April court day, will escape the penalty of his crime because Governor Willson will not issue a requisition for his return to the scene of his misdoings. Says the Harrodsburg Herald. Gross hired the turnout from Howard, drove to Harrodsburg and sold the horse on the street to the highest bidder, Ed Rutherford, of Jessamine county, becoming the purchaser, and the vehicle and harness going to some one else. Shortly after buying the animal Rutherford offered the horse for sale, Mr. T. J. Royalty, of Mercer, becoming the purchaser at $71.50, Rutherford making 13 dollars in the transaction.

Several days ago this Howard put in an appearance at Harrodsburg looking for his horse. He learned of Rutherford's part in the transaction and went to Jessamine to interview him, but Rutherford informed him he did not know who the second purchaser was. In the meantime Howard had made a diligent search for his property and being unable to find his horse, gave it up as gone from him and his heirs, and returned home.

Three weeks after this Mr. Royalty read the story of the stolen horse. He drove 14 miles and came here to say that he had bought a horse on the day named that answered the description of the one missing. He then saw Chief of Police Smith and informed him of the matter. The officer telephoned Howard to come and get his property. Rutherford refused to make good to Royalty and therefore he is out the $71.50, but he has instituted suit against Rutherford for that amount.

In the meantime Chief Smith and his subordinates, assisted by County Attorney Rodman Keenon, got busy. After many weeks and much trouble, they located Gross in an extreme Western county of Nebraska, bordering on the Idaho line, the western sheriff going to considerable trouble to locate him. When everything had been planned out and policeman Bev Bonta had arranged to make the long journey after the horse thief and bring him back to Harrodsburg, Gov. Willson was applied for a question. To the great surprise of the officers His Excellency wrote County Attorney Keenon last Saturday refusing the necessary papers, saying that the horse was worth only $20 and he did not think the State could afford to pay out $200 to send an officer to Nebraska for a man who had stolen only $20 worth of horseflesh.

The amount involved should cost no figure in this case. The horse sold for $71.50 and had it been worth $5 the principle involved is sufficient to have had the thief returned. The procedure of the Governor will not tend to suppress night riding and other crimes. The lawbreaker should know that he will be brought to justice regardless of cost. We believe that on a former occasion Governor Willson refused extradition papers for a criminal who had fled to Indiana, saying that it was a good riddance for Kentucky. He should remember that $6,000 reward was offered for Wendling and that the city of Louisville expended $19,000 in the 11,000 mile chase to bring him to the scene of his alleged crime. If he is guilty the cost of apprehending him is insignificant.

CRAB ORCHARD SELECTED.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Fox Hunters' Association held at Lexington last week, Crab Orchard was decided upon as the place of the next National meeting and November 18, as the date. The bench show will take place on November 21.

George Robinson a well-known young man of the Alicoeton community, in Boyle county was ground to pieces by a freight train while seated on the tracks at Gravel Switch last week. It is thought that he was asleep.

HIT BY AUTO.

While driving from Danville to his home on the Stanford pike, Mr. J. D. Whitehouse, the prominent farmer, had a narrow escape. His horse took fright at an automobile driven by Stanford parties and ran off. It is stated that the automobile came dashing almost against Mr. Whitehouse and that his horse turned quickly and ran off. Mr. Whitehouse was thrown out and bruised. His vehicle was considerably damaged. Danville Advocate.

POWERS ACCEPTS CHALLENGE FOR A JOINT DEBATE.

Things are certainly warming up in the bloody Eleventh. The challenge of Congressman D. C. Edwards to Caleb Powers, his opponent, for joint debate, or rather a series of joint debates, has been accepted by the campaign manager of Powers, who proposes that the first debate be held in Somerset the county seat of Pulaski, which is the strongest for Edwards in the Eleventh district. If this arrangement is carried out there will be the largest crowd ever seen in Somerset and the democratic attendance will be immense, as they are watching eagerly every move which is made by the two factions which are now so bitterly arrayed against each other in a contest which means the political ending of the faction which loses this time. It goes without saying that these debates will be something fierce and that each candidate will go after the other with hammer and tongs.

The sensation of the whole campaign is promised, so a quiet rumor has it, in that there is now in the possession of the Edwards forces some affidavits setting out the details of the prearranged plan of the assassination of Gov. Goebel.

While all this is going on and the pot is boiling over daily, the democrats are storing up ammunition for the fray in the final election. They purpose to nominate a good, strong man who can take the stump and to also organize a strong campaign committee and to set forth a work which has never heretofore been dreamed of by the democracy of the mountains and they say if they do not add one member to the democratic side of the house in the next session, they will know the reason why.

What Do You Think of This?

DANVILLE PARTY SEE "GHOST"
IN OLD CRAB ORCHARD HOUSE

(Danville Advocate) Misses Virginia and Mary Crutcher of Georgetown, and Miss Agnes Owsley, of Midway, who are guests of Miss Jennie Graham Bright on West Lexington avenue, are descendants of the late William Whitley as is also their hostess. Mrs. Harry Bright of this city, and Mrs. Andrew Bright of Elizabethtown, are descendants by marriage of the distinguished Kentuckian. By the courtesy of Mr. W. S. Glore, the six descendants on yesterday were taken to the old Whitley home near Crab Orchard in the Glore automobile. The old house was the first brick building erected in Kentucky. It has been standing for more than a century and a quarter and is one of the interesting features to the students of Central Kentucky history.

When the party arrived at the old place, they observed signs painted about the place, warning trespassers not to enter. They had never been in the house and thought they would venture to the front door anyway. The building appeared to be unoccupied and one door stood ajar and all six entered. They were much interested in the curious rooms and large openings that had been utilized in pointing guns through to shoot down attacking squads of Indians in the early days and so they ventured upstairs. Several rooms were visited on the second floor and the visit had been without incident. When their inspection had been about finished they opened a door to a large room and there sat in the almost vacant space a strange looking, white haired old woman with long nose and chin, wearing curious spectacles. She was the image of the pictures of ghosts and witches of other days.

Frightened almost out of their wits, displaying but little of their courage of their fearless ancestor, they went down the steps and out the door in disorder frightened within an inch of their lives. To the waiting automobile they hurried and sped away, thinking all the time that the source of their fright was in hot pursuit. This was not only their first but will be their last visit to the historic landmark. The old building was made of brick, carried by mule back from Virginia to Kentucky.

JUDGE SAUFLEY.

Words fall us when we seek to pay a tribute of love and respect to the memory of our kinsman, Judge M. C. Saufley, who was taken so unexpectedly last week. A first cousin of our grandfather, we looked upon him as the titular head of the name and revered him as the patriarch of our family clan in addition to other reasons suggested by his most eminent abilities and attainments.

It was hardly possible to pay him a more beautiful or truer tribute than was said in Saturday's Lexington Herald by our dear friend, Col. W. P. Walton, former editor of this paper and who knew the deceased intimately for over a quarter of a century. Mr. Walton wrote these lines:

"Not one by one, but in scores, the flower of the south who went to war for the lost cause, is passing away. Every day's dispatches tell of the deaths of those who have crossed the river to rest with Jackson under the shade of the trees, and soon there will be none to tell the tale of the hardships and the trials of those who were brave in war and have proved as worthy of praise after its close in everything that pertains to civic duty. It is sad to think how rapidly the grand old fellows are passing. They have made the world better for having lived in it and their example of self-sacrifice and devotion to duty will be a heritage more precious than rubies to those they leave behind."

These thoughts were revived yesterday by the news of the sudden death of Judge Micah Chrisman Saufley of Stanford, one of the noblest Romans of them all. Our columns tell the sad story. It is our pleasure to add a word of praise of him who was faithful in every demand of a long and useful life and who in greatness grew as the years thickened over him. Oh the writer knew him for thirty years or more, and can truly say that no braver man, truer friend or juster judge ever lived than Mr. Saufley, as he was affectionately known by the people of his section, who delighted to honor him and great is the grief occasioned by his loss.

Although nearly three score or ten, he was a well preserved man, and it was hoped and believed when he was elected for the third term as circuit judge of his district last November, that he would live through the term to dispense justice for which his court was always notable. But man proposes and God disposes, and today the body of this really great man will be placed by loving friends beneath the sod of the Kentucky that he loved so well, while tears of deepest sorrow will fill every eye.

When Judge Saufley ran for appellate judge in his district in 1904, we wrote to him for a picture and sketch of himself. He had no picture and said with reference to the sketch, "There is but little to say. I only want to emphasize that I am of Virginia blood in every ancestral line, and chiefly that I was born and reared in the mountains of Wayne county, Kentucky. These facts are my only stock in trade." He then went on to say that in the summer of 1861 he entered the Confederate army as private in a company recruited in Wayne county, under many difficulties and some perils, with his elder brother and Shelby Coffey, both of whom were killed very soon and in the first engagement they were in as soldiers with General Wolford's cavalry.

At first Judge Saufley was in the infantry under General Zollicoffer and then under General John C. Breckinridge, with the first in battle at Fishing Creek and the latter at Shiloh and Murfreesboro. Afterwards he was promoted to a lieutenant and transferred to General Duke's Brigade in Morgan's cavalry, was captured on the Ohio raid and put in the Allegheny, Pa., penitentiary. He was exchanged before the close of the war and was in Virginia at Lee's surrender. After an absence of three years and ten months, he returned to his home in Wayne county.

Of the delightful romance that the war brought about for him, let the Judge's own words tell in his humorous way:

"I was treated with great kindness while sick in Tennessee at home of Major Rowan, an old lawyer of Murfreesboro. Three years later after the close of the war, I went back there and out of gratitude for the hospitality of the family married the youngest daughter of the home, the prettiest girl, I swear in all Dixie."

Having gotten his license to practice law, he moved to Lincoln county, where he was soon after elected County Attorney and then county judge. He was a Hancock elector in 1880 and Cleveland appointed him associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Wyoming until the territory was admitted as a State. Then he returned to Kentucky and in 1892 was elected Circuit Judge, the position he held with great credit at the time of his death.

Not long since the greatest bereavement of his life befell Judge Saufley, in the death of his son, George B. Saufley a bright young lawyer who was following in his father's footsteps and the blow nearly crushed him. Six children survive the Judge in addition to one of the loveliest and truest wives that ever blessed a man with her love and devotion. The children are Rowan Saufley, Mrs. Shepherd Webb, and Mrs. S. M. Logan, Mrs. Geo. L. Penny, James Saufley and Lieutenant Saufley of the navy.

A great man has fallen and there is sorrow everywhere he is known. May God soften the blow to those on whom it heaviest falls, and reward his faithfulness and devotion to duty by an eternity at His right hand.

The democrats of the tenth district seem to have a splendid opportunity to win this year. They have nominated the strongest and cleanest man in the district, A. Floyd Byrd, of Winchester, to oppose Langley and it looks like there's going to be one more Democratic representative in the lower house next time to hand a solar plexus blow to the Aldrich-Cannon rough riders.

D. J. SMITH WRITES TO FRIENDS THROUGH THE I. J.

Haag, New Mexico, Aug. 8.

Mr. Editor I. J.: If you will allow the space in your paper which myself and little family esteem so highly will give my many friends an account of myself and home on the plains of New Mexico. I have been here one year last November; am located on a running water draw; in Curry county New Mexico. As I like to have protection from wind I did not locate on the high plains although I never saw better of prettier country. The climate is ideal with the exception of a few days in winter; very healthful; plenty of antelope and jack rabbits which are fine runners. We are having plenty of rain and crops are looking fine although very late. There is a large crop of broom corn, some fear too late. We grow all grain crops practically.

I will not attempt to say much of the country this time in a short letter. We always hustle to see who will get first look over the I. J., and find so many entertaining things in every issue. I am glad to know you are using your new court house for which I had pleasure to vote, for the good citizens should be proud of it also to see Hon. Harvey Helm has no opposition. Go it Harvey I would be glad to get to vote for you again.

I am glad to see so many glowing things about Crab Orchard, which Capt. Joe Willis will make the best. I want to congratulate the resort on getting Mrs. Mary Richert as head housekeeper. I have spent many pleasant days there and around Crab Orchard, also some sorrow and trouble. Am very sorry to know of Mr. W. H. Traylor's sickness; have had a great deal of pleasant dealings with him; hope he will be out soon. Would be glad to see all of my old Gilbert's Creek friends and customers.

Very respectfully,
D. J. Smith.

Newspaper Advertising

MADE MONEY FOR DANVILLE FAIR THIS YEAR.

Col. I. M. Dunn the popular secretary of the Danville fair is thoroughly convinced of the value of country newspaper advertising. He advertised the fair this year in no other way; cut all posters, bills and other ways which cost much but give little results and confined himself exclusively to the newspapers.

The result, Col. Dunn says is that the Danville fair made money this year, the first time in many years. He says he will use nothing but the country press in the future and advises others seeking profitable advertising to do likewise.

Col. Dunn is talking a Tri-County fair by Boyle, Lincoln and Garrard counties, and his suggestion is meeting with much favor by leading farmers and prominent men of all three counties.

HOW TO CURE ECZEMA, PIMPLES AND DANDRUFF.

We desire to say that when we took the agency for Zemo we were convinced that it was a valuable remedy for Eczema, pimples and dandruff. Yet, we must frankly admit that Zemo has far exceeded our expectations as a treatment for skin diseases. We are pleased to state that we shall continue the agency as Zemo has given splendid results wherever recommended. Our customers like Zemo, too, because it is a clean vegetable liquid for external use.

Zemo effects its cures by drawing to the surface of the skin and destroying the germ life that causes the disease, leaving the skin clear and healthy. It does not soil the clothing or linen and can be used freely on infants. With every purchase, we give a booklet on skin diseases explaining in simple words how any person can be cured at home of any form of skin or remedy. G. L. Penny, Druggist.

J. H. BAUGHMAN'S MULES WIN AT TWO MORE FAIRS.

After having almost swept the platter clean in the mule rings at the Harrodsburg and Lexington fairs, J. H. Baughman, of this city, took his champion bunch to the Perryville and Lawrenceburg fairs this week. At Harrodsburg he showed in six rings, getting six blues and two reds, and at Lexington beat mules of all ages with his two-year-old mare mule in the championship ring. He was offered $350 for her and $400 for his two-year-old team but has reserved all his stock for his big sale here on Sept. 7th.

Mr. Baughman has so far won 44 ties this season, 27 of them being blues and championships. This speaks volumes for Lincoln county as a producer of high class stock.

REV. CHAS. D. TILLMAN,

THE WORLD-WIDE KNOWN SINGER AND EVANGELIST, OF ATLANTA, GEORGIA.

Others will assist in the meeting. This help for our meeting is the best that can be had for a revival or a great camp meeting and by the grace of God we expect have the best meeting we have ever had.

Accommodations: We furnish rooms or tents for those who wish to stay in the grounds. Tent occupants will please bring bedding. If you wish to buy or rent a tent please apply 10 days before meeting begins.

A dining hall and lunch stand will be run for the benefit of the people. Purpose: this meeting is run for the positive salvation of lost humanity and not a big time gathering place. We propose to run the meeting orderly and not allow drinking or any mis behavior. We want that men flee the wrath to come and prepare to meet God. We believe in and preach holiness of heart and life but our meeting is clear of fanaticism, and the doctrine that we hold is the one that saves men and keeps them saved, revealed in our inward and outward life.

Are you coming? Be sure to come rent you a tent or build you a cottage and stay all through the meeting. You will never regret it.

For further particulars address C. W. Lovell, Stanford, Ky., or Dr. Frank Grider, McKinney, Ky., or Clarence J. Sipple, London, Ky.

Respectfully Yours,

Clarence J. Sipple, Sec., London, Ky.

IF YOU ARE WELL POSTED

on lumber we don't need to tell you of its good qualities. You have found them out for yourself. It is the man who knows little about it we want to reach. If you are one we want to say most emphatically that the best lumber is by far the cheapest and that ours is the best to be had.
